THE YELLOW BRIAR

A Story of the Irish on the Canadian Countryside

By PATRICK SLATER
By arrangement with Thomas Allen, Publisher, Toronto.

CHAPTER IV—Continued

The next spring William Marshall was 21; and his father set him up in life after the fashion of the times. For livestock, he received with his father's blessing a yoke of young oxen, a heifer, due to calve later, and an elegant pair of small pigs. His farming equipment consisted of a wagon and its contents. There were a few bags of seed spring wheat and oats, some millet and seed potatoes. For tools he had, among other things, a crosscut saw, a rip saw, an auger, two cant hooks, logging chains, a cradle, and a keg of ironmongery supplies. Early in the spring, his brother Maxwell went over with him, and the boys put in the first season's crop on the Marshall place. The cattle found good pickings in an old heaver meadow.

The large fallow of fallen trees was as dry as tinder. The lads made ready for the burning. Brush fire piles were laid in a hundred places and flaming torches of dry cedar passed quickly through the fallow. Within half an hour the entire field was a roaring mass of crackling flames shooting up to the sky in sparkling cones of fire. Great columns of whirling black smoke rose to drift in clouds over the valley for miles around. The heat was intense. Flames lit up the sky throughout the night and for days afterward the fire growled and smouldered in the great hardwood logs as it reduced them to powdery ashes.

Then the dirty work of making land began. The field was an ash pit with stumps sticking up in all directions and was littered over with half-burned logs and charred debris of the fire. The stumps could wait for a more convenient season. Scarred logs and great, cranky limbs were yanked into fresh piles, with much prodding of the rumps of the oxen, and the brandings were thus prepared for a fresh burning. Salty sweat stank on the young lads, who fought amid choking dust for every foot of farm land.

MINARD'S LINIMENT
"KING OF PAIN"

By the middle of May that spring the sower went forth to sow on the Marshall farm. The oxen pulled a triangular drag with wooden teeth in and out amid the stumps, scratching the black, inviting earth. The wheat was sown broadcast; and the drag did what it could to harrow the seed in. The oats and millet were sown next—and the land loved them. It was a slow, laborious task splitting cedar rails and fence-making to keep the cattle off the growing crops. And having done some of it myself, I speak with respect of the heart-breaking, back-hurting job of cradling lodged oats on a stumpy hillside. However, the harvest yielded two tidy stacks of grain; and they stood close to a log stable neatly thatched to keep the cattle and calf as snug the next winter as bugs in a rug.

In the fall of that year the first log-house was built on the Marshall farm, a one-roomed affair with a ladder to the loft; and it was up that ladder I climbed the first night I slept on the farm. The Marshall boys had wrought hard, early and late, whip-sawing out the rough planks for the floor and the sheathing for the roof. The shingles were cut on the job. Neighbors lent a hand at putting up the cabin. Later in the fall, before his brother left him, William Marshall took a week off and went out to look himself up a wife.

CHAPTER V.

William Marshall walked across country by way of Woodbridge to the home farm on the 4th line of Markham; and there, nestled by an orchard, a warm welcome was awaiting him.

Poor, simple Willie Marshall! He was not faring forth to court a girl he loved. The mating season of his life was upon him and was hurrying him out a-hunting a woman to wife. He knew nothing of this species, modern fiction that a man is only stirred to courting because of the bewitchery of some woman's charms. Neither, perhaps, did he realize that a youth out wife-hunting is as put-let's-try in the hands of the first woman he meets who is also mating-minded.

The mysteries of sex influence are, of course, beyond the depth of a simple, old man, always living single; but somehow, old bachelors and bachelor girls spend a good deal of time musing on a subject about which they are supposed to know nothing. And why not? Religion, poetry and art are all saturated with its delightful influences. Heavenly Father, what a waste of driven snow a sexless life would be! The mystery of mating love may have its roots feeding in the earth out of which all life comes, but a flower is unlike the soil out of which it grows. I have observed a dirty-minded young secondar struck as mute and helpless as any home-minded lad by a slip of a girl with flat breasts and cheeks as white as milk. I have also observed a bold, bad woman, like Kitty O'Shea, fall desperately in love with a plain, pudgy little man, and be as timid and bashful about her love as any innocent, sweet country maid.

Romantic love had little to do with human match-making until a very recent date; and, even to-day, it seems to be, in the main, a home-amaising infection that catches idle men and silly women after they drift into the dangerous age of the forties. Farm has always married farm among the thrifty rural class in Europe—and the lad and the lass are thrown in with the acres. Bonds and mortgages marry mortgages; and the poor have always been lazy and listless in seeking far for their mates. Marrying love is distressingly mercenary among the Irish on the old sod. Unless she has a couple of Kerry cows for the dowry the emotional Celt demands that his bride be strong in back and legs for the carrying of the creels of turf. And after the songs are sung—and the speeches made, something more enduring than love sickness is required to keep a home fire burning brightly in cabin or hall. Love of man and wife is a more sturdy plant. It is a cherishing, unselfish affection that pities, is long suffering—and, if forgiven, "To make a happy fire-side clime for weans and wife, that's the true pathos and sublime of human life."

The matter of finding a suitable wife for William became the subject of a lengthy and frank discussion between the young man and his parents. The matter was canvassed most diligently in the evenings, in that drowsy undertone in which folk discuss intimate things in the dark, after the others have gone to bed. Marriages may be made in heaven, but liveable ones usually require the services of kindly matchmakers, who discreetly steer the young man's fancy in a direction where a suitable girl is quietly waiting for the likes of him. Now, setting up house-keeping on a bush farm requires more than the cabin and a bride. There is also the bed, the table, and the kitchen and other household gear the right sort of a father-in-law gives his daughter on her going-out from home. Local prospects were canvassed carefully, but without the Marshalls getting far in solution William's problem for him. Before he went out to work in service the lad had been too young to be on courting bent. Moreover, he had since been converted; and, after trial, had joined the Methodist congregation. It was at a camp meeting at Hogg's Hollow, in a season of great power and glory that he had been brought, under the awakening of the spirit, and had been made the subject of saving grace.

Universe Not Expanding

Light Rays Coming From Distant Stars Get Tired And Quit

Light rays coming from distant stars "get tired and quit," just as a human being does, Dr. Arthur Haas of the University of Notre Dame, believes. Addressing the American Physical Society, Dr. Haas declared that this property of light means that the universe is not expanding; as some astronomers and physicists believe, but remains quite constant. Dr. Haas declared the light shifts because "photons" or particles of light, grow more and more tired until they eventually vanish.

What He Didn't Know

A gentleman in a bus was annoyed by the attentions of a fellow-passenger, who had been drinking, and was imparting various scraps of information in a dogmatic and aggressive manner.

Finally the gentleman said, "I am not interested in your information, sir, unless you could tell me something I don't know."

"Or I," said the other, "I'll tell you something you don't know. My sister's your washerwoman, and I'm wearin' one of your shirts."

The British yard originally was defined as the length of the arm of King Henry I., by royal decree.

"You say you sang at the Metropolitan Opera? What was the aria?" "Ten thousand square feet."

WHAT EVERY WOMAN SHOULD KNOW!

No need for women or girls to suffer every month from periodic pains, headache or nervousness due to functional disturbances. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a very beneficial tonic. This is what Mrs. Ada Doss of 137 Front St., Stratford, Ont., has to say: "I was so weak and tired that I had to give up and go to bed. I had a severe attack of pain in my side and was a physical wreck when I began, as a last resort, taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It restored me to health. Buy now of your neighborhood druggist. New size, tablets, 50c. Liquid $1.00 and $1.50."

Little Helps For This Week

Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ who hath blessed us with all spiritual blessings. Ephesians 1:3.
Some murmur, if their sky is clear
And wholly bright to view,
And one small speck of dark appear
In their great heaven of blue:
And some with thankful love are filled,
If but one streak of light
One ray of God's great mercy gild
The darkness of their night.

The elements of happiness in this present life no man can command, even if he could command himself, for they depend on the action of many wills, the purity of many hearts. By the highest law of God the holiest must ever bear the sins and sorrows of the rest; but over the blessedness of his own spirit circumstances need have no control, for God has given unlimited power to every man to preserve his own happiness although there is in him something higher than that. He can do without happiness, and instead find blessedness.

Closely Resembles Linen

Paper Made From Wood Fibre Suitable For Clothes

Paper clothes, woven of yarn spun under water from wood fibre, soon may compete with linen finery. The new yarn proved in tests to be stronger wet than dry, and neither stretched nor shrank with laundering or dry cleansing, according to a bulletin of Arthur D. Little, Inc., industrial chemists, Boston.

In appearance it most closely approximates linen, and this property has been a principal factor in present uses in shoe coverings, handbags and the newer sports suits. Continued improvement may make this paper product a significant addition to the present range of textile fibres, it is believed.

The fibres are less than three-hundredths of an inch long, as compared with an inch long, and wool, linen and silk, which may be much longer.

Manufacturing On Prairies

Manufacturing in the three prairie provinces had an output of $235,000,000 during 1936 and gave employment to 200,000 persons, John East, chairman of the prairie division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, told members at the annual meeting in Saskatoon.

The first English pipes were made of clay. These have been manufactured for 350 years. 2202

MOTHER'S Day SERVICE

A Joint Mother's Day and Sunday School Service was held in the United Church on Sunday, May 9th. A regular order of service was followed in which the theme of Mother and mother love was emphasized. A delightful reading was rendered by Miss Barbara Shier on the "Do-As-You-Please-House". This reading clearly brought out what our specific duties were in the home and what were the essentials of a good home.

Rev. Mr. Smiley in his address showed that God's watchfulness and care for his people, could be compared to that of a mother for her child and that mother's love gave somewhat of an insight into the heart of God. The weather being favorable there were a good number out to enjoy the service.

Mr. Leonard Youell officiated at the organ during his father's absence.

Alberta Crop Report No. 1

Seeding commenced about April 15 in the south and central areas as far north as R-d Deer and north east to Lloydminster, reports indicating that from 75 to 95 per cent of wheat is seeded with a considerable portion of coarse grain seeding also completed. Wheat has made a growth of two to three inches in some districts. In the Edmonton zone north to Athabasca, progress of spring work varies somewhat, wheat seeding ranging from 50 to 80 per cent and coarse grains just nicely started. In the Peace River district seeding is becoming general this week but good progress is now being made.

Snow storms and spring rains have occurred at intervals through the south to provide adequate surface moisture for germination. This applies also to the area from Vegreville east to the boundary. Unusually dry conditions for spring have prevailed through most of the country north of Calgary (not including the Peace River district). Spring work there is farther advanced than usual but surface moisture has been limited. Conditions are much improved, however, with good rains during the last couple of days. Though there is now sufficient surface moisture in most districts from the international boundary north to Athabasca, there is little subsoil reserve following the dry season of 1936 and comparatively light winter snowfall in the northern areas. The whole of the Peace River district reports excellent spring conditions with plenty of reserve moisture and prospects of a normal crop season.

Coronation Day Programme

Coronation Day was fittingly celebrated in Chinook on May 12th. The day was ideal and a good enthusiastic crowd gathered in the School grounds at 1.30 p. m., who paid homage to a new King and a new Queen, King George and Queen Elizabeth for the future of the British Empire and for the future of Canada. The town and school were well decorated with flags and bunting.

A delightful reading was rendered by Miss Barbara Shier on the "Do-As-You-Please-House". This reading clearly brought out what our specific duties were in the home and what were the essentials of a good home.

Rev. Mr. Smiley in his address showed that God's watchfulness and care for his people, could be compared to that of a mother for her child and that mother's love gave somewhat of an insight into the heart of God. The weather being favorable there were a good number out to enjoy the service.

Mr. Leonard Yonell officiated at the organ during his father's absence.

SOCIAL security is today available to YOU—and to every man and woman, young or old, rich or poor—through savings in Life Insurance.

In fact, Life Insurance offers you a triple measure of social security—protection for your wife and children in the event of your death—a cash reserve to tide you over emergencies—and financial independence for your own old age.

No other plan of social security can give you such complete peace of mind. And only Life Insurance enables you to create an immediate estate with modest savings.

Today Three and a Half Million thrifty Canadians are banded together for mutual protection through Life Insurance. Ninety-three per cent. of these policyholders are insured for amounts of from $500 to $5,000.

To you and your family, Life Insurance offers the finest form of savings and security.

Alberta Crop Report No. 1

Seeding commenced about April 15 in the south and central areas as far north as R-d Deer and north east to Lloydminster, reports indicating that from 75 to 95 per cent of wheat is seeded with a considerable portion of coarse grain seeding also completed. Wheat has made a growth of two to three inches in some districts. In the Edmonton zone north to Athabasca, progress of spring work varies somewhat, wheat seeding ranging from 50 to 80 per cent and coarse grains just nicely started. In the Peace River district seeding is becoming general this week but good progress is now being made.

Snow storms and spring rains have occurred at intervals through the south to provide adequate surface moisture for germination. This applies also to the area from Vegreville east to the boundary. Unusually dry conditions for spring have prevailed through most of the country north of Calgary (not including the Peace River district). Spring work there for is farther advanced than usual but surface moisture has been limited. Conditions are much improved, however, with good rains during the last couple of days. Though there is now sufficient surface moisture in most districts from the international boundary north to Athabasca, there is little subsurface reserve following the dry season of 1936 and comparatively light winter snowfall in the northern areas. The whole of the Peace River district reports excellent spring conditions with plenty of reserve moisture and prospects of a normal crop season.

Coronation Day Programme

Coronation Day was fittingly celebrated in Chinook on May 12th. The day was ideal and a good enthusiastic crowd gathered in the School grounds at 1:30 p. m., who paid homage to a new King and a new Queen, King George and Queen Elizabeth for the future of the British Empire and for the future of Canada. The town and school were well decorated with flags and bunting.
